. . . DESPITE THE WAR

Of the many problems caused by the War with its coupons and train of rising prices, not least is that of keeping up one's appearance. Clothes are daily becoming scarcer and more expensive. Before ordering new clothes, however, you should ask yourself this question: are the old ones really "done," or is it that they are only tired and dispirited? In the latter case the remedy is Dry-cleaning and Tailor-pressing by the Lilliput Special Valet Service, which will restore smartness and youth to your clothes at a mere fraction of the cost of new ones. This service will ensure your being perfectly dressed despite the War!

MOIST HEAT THERAPY

—————In conditions which require Moist Heat applications—but no specialised nursing care—an ANTIPHLOGISTINE poultice is indicated.

This ready-to-use medicated poultice is applied comfortably hot directly to the affected area. It maintains Moist Heat for many hours.

The comforting Moist Heat of an ANTIPHLOGISTINE pack is effective in relieving the pain, swelling, and muscle spasms due to sprains, strains, and contusions.

It is likewise effective in affections of the respiratory system; in relieving the cough, soreness, tightness of the chest, muscular and pleuritic pain.

ANTIPHLOGISTINE may be used with chemotherapy.

SULPHADIMETHYLPYRIMIDINE

“Sulphamezathine” is a new sulphonamide of low toxicity which has been used with success in primary and secondary pneumonia, meningococcal meningitis, hæmolytic streptococcal infections, and B. coli infections of the urinary tract.

As “Sulphamezathine” is rapidly absorbed when given by the mouth, it attains a high concentration in the blood when given in adequate doses. It is slowly excreted and its concentration in the tissues is, therefore, well maintained and less frequent dosage is necessary.

It is noteworthy that the acetyl derivative of “Sulphamezathine” is so soluble that its deposition in the urinary tract has not been reported.

Value was once synonymous with rarity. There was a time when the esteem in which a remedy was held depended on the remoteness of its origin ; but science to-day finds in such commonplace things as coal the source of supply for the chemicals used in modern drug manufacture.

May & Baker, and other chemical manufacturers, depend upon what remains of Britain's prehistoric trees for the aniline derivatives upon which all the sulphonamides are built.

Another commodity derived from trees is wood pulp, but in these days of paper shortage the circulation of printed matter is restricted, and rightly so. In as far as this deprives doctors from having at hand all the information they desire on our products, it is to be regretted ; but our Medical Information Department seeks to meet the difficulty and is daily answering many questions.

what MILTON is . . .

I. THE UNIQUE HYPOCHLORITE *

Milton is unique. It is the only electrolytic sodium hypochlorite which is specially stabilised. It is non-irritant. It retains its strength for several years. This claim cannot be made for any other hypochlorite.

This unique stability of Milton makes it valuable in medical and surgical practice. Partly because of their variability and rapid loss of strength, Dakin's solution, Eusol and all other hypochlorites can never form efficient substitutes and may, even, cause harm.

From the practitioner's and nurse's point of view the value of this unique stability has been described by one surgeon thus: "There are no difficult calculations for the nurse, dresser or doctor to undertake because fresh Milton can be easily and rapidly prepared for each patient. A tablespoonful of Milton is mixed with half a pint of tap water and a 1 in 20 solution is made. . . . Solutions of the exact strength may thus be prepared from this antiseptic. . . ."†

For stability and ease of preparation the choice is Milton—not any hypochlorite.

Modern Antiseptics and STAPHYLOCOCCI

DURING recent years the medical attitude to antiseptics has been affected by the fact, which has definitely been established, that, to be completely effective, such antiseptics must be equally effective against both staphylococci and streptococci. For it is now recognised that, in addition to the well-known series of abscesses, staphylococci are important factors in the causation of severe—and frequently fatal—infections.

IN PROOF OF THE POTENCY OF O-SYL ANTISEPTIC AGAINST STAPHYLOCOCCI

TEST No. P/17—CATEGORY: Bactericidal. METHOD: "Finger Tip" Infection.

PROCEDURE: Pure cultures in broth of Staphylococcus aureus were prepared. Wool swabs having been soaked in these cultures were then rubbed vigorously into the skin of the finger tips for exactly one half-minute timed by the watch. The finger tips were then allowed to dry in the air for a period of 15 minutes.

Each finger was then used as a "test," for which purpose it was first immersed in the fluid under examination for the required length of time, transferred to a bowl of distilled water for a period of one half-minute to remove traces of any disinfectant, etc., after which a dry sterile wool swab was rubbed vigorously over the finger tip for a period of one half-minute (timed).

This wool swab was then used to inoculate a suitable culture plate for the growth of the organisms under test. Thus, each finger tip was artificially infected, and, as indicated by the control finger, this infection was heavy. The action of the antiseptic unassisted by rubbing or other movement was investigated from the point of view of bactericidal action.

RESULT

The control swab yielded 364 colonies
The finger treated for 1 minute with
O-syl yielded ..... 123 colonies
The finger treated for 2 minutes with
O-syl yielded ..... 27 colonies
The finger treated for 3 minutes with
O-syl yielded ..... 2 colonies
The finger treated for 4 minutes with
O-syl yielded ..... 0 colonies

These tests have been repeated on three occasions with only slight variation of result.

Subsequent announcements will submit further proof of the anti-staphylococcal potency of O-syl—the safe and pleasant antiseptic.

Ulcers of the stomach and duodenum

Official Guidance on Dietary Control

One suggestion in the informative pamphlet* recently issued by the Ministries of Food and Health may be new to doctors treating cases of gastric and duodenal ulcer.

It is the recommendation (Section C) of blackcurrant syrup (with biscuits, rusks or sandwiches) as a mid-morning snack for patients who have recovered from the acute stage of peptic ulcer.

Where, because of the patient's distaste for considerable amounts of uncooked vegetables, it is necessary to supplement the vitamin C intake in other ways, blackcurrant syrup is advocated to be taken daily.

Doctors following the pamphlet's recommendations will find in Ribena Blackcurrant Syrup an acceptable and quite economical medium for increasing the intake of natural vitamin C (content: not less than 20 mg. per fluid oz.).

Independent clinical investigations have incidentally shown that Ribena accelerates disappearance of symptoms and assists healing even in acute stages of peptic ulcer.

Correspondence should be addressed to: The Medical Dept., H. W. Carter & Co., Ltd., The Old Refinery, Bristol, 2.

TREATMENT FOR DERMATITIS

IT HAS BEEN SHOWN THAT MANY SKIN DISEASES ARE ACCOMPANIED BY A DEFICIENCY OF THE UNSATURATED FATTY ACIDS IN THE BODY FAT AND THAT WHEN THIS IS RESTORED TO NORMAL, THE CONDITION RAPIDLY CLEARS.

ESOBAN Ointment contains the unsaturated fatty acids essential to healthy skin metabolism and approximates in iodine value to the blood serum and tissue fatty acids. It provides an ideal ointment base rapidly absorbed by the tissues and compatible with those medicaments usually prescribed in the field of Dermatology.

ESOBAN Emulsion and Capsules present maize oil in an easily assimilable form for oral use, and are indicated in conjunction with the ointment in long-standing or intractable cases.

Do you know the Laundry offers you
HOSPITAL CLEANLINESS FOR YOUR CLOTHES

Whether your visits to the Hospitals are occasional or are in the nature of regular attendances, you must have been impressed by the immaculate cleanliness of the large quantities of bed clothes, towels, and other washables, as well as the wearing apparel of the medical staffs in these great modern establishments. It may not have occurred to you that you may have in your own home the same degree of cleanliness that obtains in Hospitals by sending your Clothes for Washing to an up-to-date Laundry such as DEVONSHIRE; here the same specialized methods of washing are used, the same advanced equipment and the same expert care, with the same result . . . . hospital cleanliness.
